What defines students at the University of Washington? We believe in possibility and the power of collaboration. We have the drive to tackle challenges and pursue progress. We hold the conviction that together, we can create a world of good. And above all, we are determined to be boundless.

WE ARE THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

We are the University of Washington.

The University Honors Program provides a rigorous environment for highly motivated students looking for an interdisciplinary educational experience. Bringing selected freshmen — including those with excellent academic records — the Honors Program offers a chance to pursue challenging classes and unique opportunities to participate in undergraduate research. This is the time to grow and learn, and we're here to support you every step along the way.

ELEVATE YOUR EXPERIENCE THROUGH THE UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

At the UW, conducting research as an undergraduate is just another part of the Husky Experience. In fact, more than 7,000 undergraduates were involved in research in 2015. All students — including freshmen — have the opportunity to join leading-edge labs and teams in fields from history to health care.

RESEARCH THAT MATTERS

The University Honors Program provides a rigorous environment for highly motivated students looking for an interdisciplinary educational experience. Bringing selected students into close contact with dedicated students in an atmosphere of small, challenging classes allows the Honors Program to combine the intimacy of a small liberal arts college with the strengths of a top public research university.

STUDY ABROAD

LIFE AS A HUSKY

Your Husky Experience doesn’t end when you leave the classroom; in fact, the time outside of class can be just as transformative. It starts when you discover your own communities within the larger UW — by scaling Mount Rainier with the Hiking Club, joining a performance group to share your passion for improv, or connecting with the Dream Project to make college a reality for high school students. Whatever you choose, you’ll develop strengths, attitudes and abilities that take your education to the next level.

LIVING ON CAMPUS

You’re not required to live on campus, but two-thirds of freshmen do. By living on campus, you’ll find countless opportunities to develop meaningful relationships, join an engaging and supportive academic community and explore who you are.

- Dining options to support your health and fitness, including vegetarian, vegan, Halal, Kosher and gluten-free options
- Committed to sustainable agriculture, local sourcing and zero solid waste
- 100% smoke-free environment
- Internet and cable TV service provided
- Fully furnished and equipped rooms
- Area 01 maker space and labs for music, video and gaming

Immerse yourself in the unique opportunities available in Seattle. We’re a city of self-starters who believe that anything is possible when working together. We’re adventurous and entrepreneurial, caffeinated and connected. And with the Pacific Northwest in your backyard, you’ll find endless ways to explore the outdoors, from paddle boarding on Lake Washington to skiing and snowboarding in the Cascade Mountains.

admit.uw.edu/Visit
One distinguishing feature of a premier university like the UW is the diversity of experience, culture, talent and sheer brainpower represented in the student body. To the Office of Admissions, you aren’t just a GPA and a set of test scores. We’ll take a look at the numbers, but we want to know more. Who are you? What else have you done? Where are you headed? We are excited to learn what you will bring to the UW community.

Do not send transcripts when you apply. You will report coursework on the application.
